This year's program entitled "Careers in stewardship, epidemiology, and public health in the COVID-19 era... charting the path to leadership," will focus on networking, mentoring, and skill development. The target audience is ID fellows (adult or pediatrics), ID pharmacy residents, early-to-mid career ID/IPC/Pharmacy professionals, and public health practitioners working in the metropolitan NY area. The goal of this session is to come together to reflect on the past, present, and future of ID careers in the COVID era.

There will be two different 30-minute career panels:

1) "Careers in Academia and Leadership," featuring:
   - David Calfee, MD, MS: Hospital Epidemiologist, NYP Cornell, Editor in Chief, Infection Control & Hospital Epidemiology
   - Libby Dodds-Ashley, PharmD: Assoc. Prof of Medicine/ID and Lead ID Pharmacist, Duke Antimicrobial Stewardship Outreach Network
   - Keith Kaye, MD, MPH: Professor of Medicine/ID, Director of Clinical Research, University of Michigan
   - Judy Guzman-Cotrill, DO: Professor of Pediatrics, Division of Infectious Diseases, OHSU, SHEA 2021 Spring Conference Co-Chair, Co-Director - IDSA/CDC LEAP Fellowship

2) "Paths Less Taken - Public Health, Consulting, Media, and Industry"
   - Kavita Trivedi MD, MPH: Medical Epidemiologist, former officer - Healthcare Associated Infections Program at the California Department of Public Health; Founder - Trivedi Consultants (WHO, CDC, SHEA)
   - Arjun Srinivasan MD, CAPT, USPHS: Associate Director for Healthcare Associated Infection Prevention Programs, Division of Healthcare Quality Promotion, National Center for Emerging and Zoonotic Infectious Diseases
   - Celine Gounder, MD: Infectious Diseases Physician & Epidemiologist, Podcaster, Journalist & Filmmaker; member, President Biden's Coronavirus Task Force

After a 15-minute break, the session will conclude with a 45-minute workshop entitled “How to publish your work in stewardship/infection prevention/epidemiology”
